Technoflex Introduce new Mounting pads which are manufactured wholly or partially from an elastomer (rubber).

Equipment Pads Use as a mounting base for air conditioning units, filters, heaters, pool pumps, and refrigeration, or any type of equipment requiring weight distribution support.

Mounting Pads Usage and Importance

Mounting pads are specially designed and manufactured for Air Conditioning Equipment's and its allied products from small capacity to bigger capacity machines.

These mounting pads are acting both way as a mounting base for the equipment which do not give any direct contact to the Metal clamps, or to the floor, and also as a weight distribution and anti vibrating pad.

As the contact is not directly to the floor, the vibration from the machine is distributed and absorbed by the Rubberized Pads. As a result the jerking of the equipment when each time of working is distributed evenly to the rubber and applies no action of force to the concrete surface or clamps provided.

The pads are specially designed for easy installation and no supervision is required, the pads are provided with bolts and nuts to suite international standard, and are available in Round Shape Big, Round Shape Small, Tapered Square Type.

Much more there are also mat type pads available in bigger and cut t size for easy and customized usage.

Quality and Supply Scope

The mounting pads are manufactured in bulk to reduce the production cost to the least thence by bringing the product price to the minimum.

Now a days our products are the cheapest and best in quality which the Current products where overthrown. More Details in dimensions and prices are as follows
